DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a system for managing audio information, classified in class 700, subclass 94.
- II. Claims 14-19, drawn to a user interface for managing audio files, classified in class 715, subclass 727.
- III. Claims 20-27, drawn to a method to facilitate audio file management, classified in class 700, subclass 94.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and III are related to invention II as subcombinations usable together, but also capable of use separately. In particular, inventions I and III are a system and method for audio file management while invention II is a user interface usable for controlling said management of the audio files. However, there exists no reason why the interface cannot use a different underlying audio file management system/method nor why the management system/method requires a user interface for setting all the different features claimed.

Inventions I and III are related to each other as combination-subcombination. Invention III is a method to facilitate audio management including "employing...the fingerprints to determine audio files to potentially remove from a database." The system by which fingerprints are flagged is laid out in claims 1-13 drawn to invention I. The remainder of invention III is drawn to higher-level functions of searching through files.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
